

Published on European Location Framework (<http://elfproject.eu>)

Home > Job offer for Technical Product Development manager at EuroGeographics

Job offer for Technical Product Development manager at EuroGeographics

Published on Fri, 2015-07-17 12:40

EuroGeographics is looking for a skilled, motivated and experienced person with a good understanding of marketing and product development for the role of Technical Product Development Manager, which is opening up in October 2015.

EuroGeographics is the not-for-profit membership association of Europe's National Mapping, Cadastral and Land Registry Authorities based in Brussels. The association is currently working very closely with a number of other organisations to develop the European Location Framework service (E.L.F.), a technical infrastructure used as single point of access to deliver harmonised, authoritative and interoperable, cross-border geospatial reference data from National Mapping, Cadastre and Land Registry Authorities (NMCAs) data.

Please visit the EuroGeographics website for more information.

Source URL:

<http://elfproject.eu/content/job-offer-technical-product-development-manager-eurogeographics>